Terre Haute Woman Wins Palestine Trip

Special

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Mrs. Fannie Rubin, a J. N. F. box holder of Terre Haute, Ind., now a resident at the Ansonia Hotel, New York City, was awarded the Jewish National Fund free round trip to Palestine as a result of the semi-annual box clearance this Spring.

The award, the second of its kind since the establishment by the Jewish National Fund of its National Box Register, was made under the auspices of a committee representing all Zionist parties and groups in the United States and comprising Rabbi I. M. Kowalsky, Chairman, Morris Margulies, Secretary, Louis Rimsky, Louis L. Cohen, Mrs. Samuel Inselbuch, Miss Tama Gutoff and Samuel Bonchek.

The J. N. F. Palestine trips are distributed one for each one thousand box holders whose boxes yielded during the preceding clearance amounts of $5.00 or more. The award to Mrs. Rubin was made on the basis of the returns of the Spring 1938 clearance.

Reached at the Hotel Ansonia, Mrs. Rubin expressed her joy at the great opportunity which has come to her and stated that she would be glad to go Eretz Israel under the auspices of the Jewish National Fund.

9 Organizations Watch At Evian

By BORIS SMOLAR

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

EVIAN, France—With the fate of millions of persecuted Jews at stake, representatives of nine Jewish organizations watched proceedings of the world refugee conference which opened here Wednesday. Included in the organizations represented are the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Jewish Colonization Association, the Council for German Jewry, the HIAS-ICA Emigration Association, the World ORT Union, the International OSE Union, the World Jewish Congress, the New Zionist Organization, the Agudath Israel and the EMCOL.

The delegation of the J. D. C. here comprises Rabbi Wise, Harold K. Guinzberg and Alfred Jaretsky, all of New York, and Dr. Kahn and Nathan Katz.

The Polish and Rumanian governments, although they have not been invited to the conference, sent observers. Both nations are interested in the question of emigration and, moreover, are anxious to have representatives on hand in the event the Jewish situation in their countries is discussed. The Palestine Jewish community also sent observers, including Dr. Arthur Rupp, colonization expert, and Zalman Rubashow, labor leader.

In Paris, Myron C. Taylor received Rabbi Wise and Dr. Kahn, and later Dr. Nahum Goldman, representing the American Jewish Congress, and discussed with them a number of suggestions. Dr. Goldman submitted to Mr. Taylor a memorandum which is to be submitted by the World Jewish Congress separately to each Government delegation at the conference.

Rabbi Bernstein Presents Report

Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Rochester is shown presenting the report of his Committee on Peace to the forty-ninth annual meeting of the Central Conference of American Rabbis in Atlantic City. Seated behind him are, left to right, Rabbi Isaac Marcuson of Macon, Georgia, recording secretary; Rabbi Max C. Currik of Erie, Pa., president; and Rabbi Emil W. Leipziger of New Orleans, vice-president of this world's largest and most influential rabbinical body. Rabbi Bernstein is scheduled to speak at 11 a.m., E.S.T. Saturday on the coast-to-coast "Call to Youth" broadcast of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Year Internship Urged By Rabbis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

TANNERSVILLE, N. Y.—A one-year "internship" for rabbis was proposed by the Rabbinical Assembly, closing its 38th annual convention at the Fairmount Hotel. The ninety-six Conservative rabbis attending the four-day sessions adopted a resolution asking their parent body, the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, to broaden its four-year course into a five-year curriculum, in the last year of which the rabbi would gain practical experience in his profession by serving under another rabbi or serving in a small community which has no rabbi.

The convention also promised to exert efforts to raise $100,000 to save the Seminary from the necessity of curtailing its curriculum. The action was taken after Dr. Louis Finklestein, provost of the Seminary, told the delegates that the board of directors had decided that the Seminary could not be conducted on a deficit basis and would have to close one or more of its departments unless sufficient funds were raised during the coming year.

Establishment of machinery to survey the work of "free lance" rabbis and to check the abuses resulting from there being unqualified men in the rabbinate was proposed by Rabbi Jacob Freedman, of Fall River, Mass. He suggested that the supervision be undertaken by the Synagogue Council of America, central organization of all rabbinical associations.

Police Rout 2500 Fighting Fascists

By BEN SUGARMAN

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

TORONTO—Police riot squads this week routed an anti-Fascist demonstration, arresting four and frustrating a march on Massey Hall, where 2,500 Fascists were meeting. Five thousand attended the counter meeting sponsored by the League for Peace and Democracy.

The J. T. A. representative, attending the Fascist meeting, was roughly handled by Fascists who recognized him as a Jew and ejected him. Joseph Farr, national organizer of the Fascists, launched a tirade of abuse against the Jews. At the height of the attack a woman in the gallery screamed a protest, but her words could not be

Hitler And Zoo Row

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

TORONTO—German Consul-General Kropp protested to Mayor Frank Day against a remark attributed to Aldermen William Croft, who was reported to have said, after an inspection of the Toronto Zoo, that it was so dirty, "the only thing I'd put in there would be Hitler." The consul asked that "the offensive remarks be withdrawn." Mr. Croft replied: "I never heard anything so ridiculous in all my life. As far as I am concerned the German Consul can go to . . . The people of Canada are not going to goosestep for him or anyone else."

Truce Effected In Center-Shul Row

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERSEY CITY—The committee appointed to arbitrate the differences between the Jersey City Jewish Community Center and Temple Emanu-El reported that the congregation would be permitted to remain in the Center until a final agreement had been reached by the committee. Under the original order the Center was to have been vacated June 30.

Under the tentative agreement, Rabbi Benjamin Plotkin of the Temple and those associated with the Center have pledged themselves not to discuss the controversy or make any reference to it publicly until the agreement is reached.

heard plainly in the uproar that followed. Storm troopers, clad in blue shirts with swastika arm bands, pulled the woman from her seat and ejected her.

Farr resumed his address but had not proceeded more than a few minutes when another woman in the gallery burst out with heated denunciations of his criticism of Jews. She was treated in similar fashion and the meeting continued.

Hadassah Petition Banded About; Still Seeks Haven

Special

NEW YORK—Because the U. S. Department of State and the British Embassy disagree on a little matter of "well established international practice," a resolution addressed to the British Government has been in search of a diplomatic resting place since April 27.

The petition, which asked Great Britain to liberalize the immigration laws of Palestine in view of the current refugee problem, was adopted by 2,000 persons at a New York reception to Col. Josiah C. Wedgwood, Labor member of the British Parliament, on April 25. Two days later Hadassah, one of the sponsors of the meeting, sent the resolution to the State Department for transmission to the British Ambassador. Came the reply that "well established international practice" did not permit such transmission.

An inquiry to the State Department as to the proper procedure brought the suggestion that Hadassah sah "may care to consider the desirability of addressing" the question to the British Ambassador. Advice from that quarter was duly sought.

"Send it to the State Department for transmission to the British Government," was the Embassy's reply.

Thus back at the starting point Hadassah once more sent the much-negotiated document to the State Department, which returned it again with this comment:

"Inasmuch as the British Embassy would not appear to be prepared to offer you facilities for the transmission of a resolution to London, it is suggested that you consider the advisability of forwarding the resolution direct to the British Government."

This week the resolution, after two months of wandering, was sent to London in the hope that at long last it will find a haven approved by diplomatic etiquette.

Elected Z. O. A. Leader In Heated Detroit Session

By PHILIP SLOMOVITZ
(J. T. A. Staff Correspondent)

DETROIT—Dr. Solomon Goldman of Chicago was elected president of the Zionist Organization of America this week in its most heated election in its history.

GOLDMAN

Rabbi Goldman defeated Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York by a vote of 350 to 237 at the Z. O. A.'s 41st annual convention at the Statler Hotel.

It was the first time on record that a president of the Zionist Organization was elected by democratic ballot of the convention delegates. The balloting was followed by tumultuous demonstrations for both candidates and a rise of feeling to a high pitch, climaxed when Dr. Stephen S. Wise, the retiring president, announced the result at the end of a five-hour session.

Dr. Goldman, in an address expressing gratitude for the honor given him, pledged everything at his disposal to the Zionist movement and declared that the thousand miles between Chicago and New York would be almost as though they did not exist, for geography would not interfere with his duties.

This is the first time that anyone living outside New York has been elected president of the Z. O. A.

Dr. Goldman, who will be 45 years old on August 18, was vice-president of the Z. O. A. and is a national co-chairman of the United Palestine Appeal. He is a Conservative rabbi, head of Congregation Anshe Emet of Chicago.

Dr. Wise, in his address opening the convention, emphatically opposed the proposed partition of Palestine, but pledged to abide by the decision of the World Zionist Organization.

With the convention seething with excitement over the contest for the presidency, Dr. Wise felt impelled to condemn rumors regarding his administration. He declared that during his two years as president there had never been a moment of unpleasantness in his personal relations with his fellow workers, and said his only moment of unhappiness had come as a result of an editorial in a Jewish weekly, which he did not name, which charged he had been too busy to give to the presidency the close attention it deserved. Dr. Wise asked that he be given no honorary presidency and that as long as he lived he would continue in some capacity in the service of the Z. O. A.

SYRACUSE MAYOR REJECTS BID, FLAYS GROUP

Order Asks Him To Head Division To Attack Jews

Special

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Mayor R. B. Marvin of this city, in a letter sent last Saturday to Lieut. Gen. Count von Cherep-Spirdovich, New York, sponsor of "the American Tribunal," an "Aryan American" organization which he characterized as "viciously intolerant" in an anti-Semitic attitude, demanded that his name be removed from its files and that his "nomination" as a member of its advisory committee be withdrawn.

The Mayor's "nomination" which drew the heated rebuff, was forwarded to him in a prospectus of the Tribunal, marked on first page:

"Confidential Document; Do not let fall into un-American hands."

The pronunciamento contained instructions for members and additional claptrap similar to intolerant utterances directed against religious and racial groups in other secretly circulated propaganda.

Members were instructed to register and vote "only for men and women of pure, white American blood and race, indorsed by the American Tribunal."

Union for "purge" purposes is imperative, it was held, and further in a passage bordering on incoherence it was asserted:

"Native born and naturalized Asiatic Jews must be forced to bring to bay Satanists who corrupt countries in which they have found asylum."

Vigilance of members was invoked to observe and report movements of Jewish leaders, elders of Zion, rabbis, diplomats of Jewish extraction or learning, Jewish office-holders, bankers and organizations.

To all of which Mayor Marvin replied:

June 25, 1938.

Lieut. Gen. Count V. Cherop-Spiridovich,
9 Sheriff Street, New York City.

Dear Sir:

"The un-American program of the so-called 'American Tribunal' has been received. Without mincing words, I want you to know that I repudiate it both as a political document and as a social idea.

"Furthermore, I demand that my name be removed from your files and that there be withdrawn at once my 'nomination' as member, advisory committee, state administrative council of the New York Division, 11th Corps, and the professed 'rank' of 'sir.'

"After reading the program, authorized by the 'First Aryan American Convention of the United States,' I am shocked to realize that within the borders of our country there are persons so viciously intolerant of the Hebrew race as you proudly proclaim yourself to be.

"The basis of your 'American Tribunal'—and it is a travesty that you should seek to operate under the word American—is definitely Fascist.

"Your program compounds all the worst tenets of the forms of government in Europe and Asia

Italy Denies Ban

On Jewish Authors

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

ROME—Official circles denied reports published abroad that the Government had prohibited the publication of translations of books by foreign Jewish authors and discouraged the displaying of books by Italian Jewish authors in bookshops. These circles reiterated Italy's attitude as expressed by the communiqué published by Informazione Diplomatica on February 16, which said that the regime was considering no measures against Jews, except for anti-Fascist elements.

which have caused war, the murder of innocent civilians and abject poverty and desolation.

"If permitted to expand in this country, your Fascist group could go far toward destroying the democratic-mindedness of the American people and endanger the liberties enjoyed by all races and all creeds.

"In recent years we have beaten down attempts to throttle the democratic processes of our nation. We will do it again and I raise my voice publicly to condemn your attempt in this same direction.

"You will find more fertile fields for racial hatred in countries which encourage the degradation and suffering of people of the Hebrew race.

"We have no place in this country for Fascist programs. They are abhorrent and inimical to our way of life. Particularly abhorrent to me is your statement that there 'must' be a joining together for a 'united effort to purge America of its enemies from within, be they Jewish plotters or Gentile participants.'

"America has always been, and I hope always will be, an asylum for persecuted men and women, be they persecuted because of their race or creed or their ideals.

"I have written above as an American. I write now as a member of the Republican Party, which you seek to entangle in your vicious plan, and to which you are calling all those tending toward racial intolerance.

"The Republican Party was founded on the great principle of racial freedom and equality. Its responsible leaders will always stand on that platform.

"I am confident that your movement will be short lived."

MY LIFE

The Autobiography Of A Courageous Jewish Pioneer

By SOL LEVITAN

I nearly fainted, so great was my surprise, but orders were orders, and in spite of the cold feet I developed when I heard I was to speak in Wall Street, I said I would do it. So they brought me to Wall Street, and I noticed not far from where I was, a man who had arrived in a Pierce Arrow, dignified and all dressed up in a high silk hat. He was the democratic speaker. The Republican orator was also dressed wonderfully. He had a fine speaking voice, and also arrived in a high priced car. They brought me in a jitney—a second hand Ford to talk for La Follette.

While I was talking, a man came out from one of the offices. He stared and stared at me, and then started to laugh. He did this for two or three times. I decided to check him over. I came to the conclusion that he had a rich father in-law. I noticed that his nose was red and one thing I am sure of, is that you cannot get a red nose from drinking water!

All at once he stopped in front of me and said: "May I ask the speaker a question?"

"Of course," I said. "Proceed."

"Will the speaker tell the audience what country he comes from?"

Then I was satisfied that there was something wrong with his noodle. After he had looked at me one, two, or three times he ought to have been convinced that I was not born in Ireland. So I straightened myself up in a dignified way, put my hands in my pocket (a thing I usually don't do when I make a speech), and said:

"I am the President of the Commercial National Bank of Madison, Wisconsin, and I feel at home among you gentlemen here in Wall Street." That answer brought forth applause from the audience honorary member of this fraternity. I had to fill out the names of the schools I had attended. To this question I answered Kovno and Villna in Slabotka. Then they wanted to know what degrees I had? I told them V. O. B., meaning in Jewish "Poor Boy" as all those who attended the college in Villna were called. Then they gave me a pin to wear, and described my education and degree.

While living with Gentiles I learned many things. I never sued for a debt, never foreclosed a mortgage, or ever refused a Gentile family a sack of flour whether they had money or not. I never forced a tenant to move for non-payment of rent. I have always felt that a Jew must conduct himself even better than a Gentile conducts himself.

When I was the State Treasurer in Wisconsin in 1932 and was succeeded by a Democrat the best accountant they could find checked up on my books. They balanced to a cent. When one of the governors of a near by state was Treasurer, he used to make about $800,000 a year, but if I had done what he did, the criticism against the Jews would have been very severe. Every Jew in the world would suffer for my mistake.

One of the serious problems that we as Jews must consider is that the rising generation may have to face an even more unfriendly world than the Jews face at the present time in certain parts of Europe. It would be wise then, for all of us to make certain that in the education of our youth that they receive a complete understanding of the cultural and social values of their Jewish inheritance. If we make them familiar with our traditions, it will strengthen them in time of stress. Unfortunately, a few of our people, in their chase for the almighty dollar, have permitted the fine qualities of our race to dry up. We all must bear the burden of those who have done these unfortunate things!

My experiences with life have taught me that the Gentile will treat the Jews with great consideration if the Jews make themselves entitled to that consideration. But I would like to sound a word of warning to Jews who insist on going places where they are not welcome. Do not try to go where you are not wanted. Your racial pride should be so great that you, as a Jew, would not want to go any place where a Jew is not welcome. If you refrain from going places where you are not welcome, you will soon win the respect of all about you and cause the "not welcome" sign to be removed.

I have always been proud of my Jewish ancestry. I recall once when I attended a convention at Asheville, North Carolina. A new hotel had been built there and it had a sign, "No Jews allowed." In order to make the hotel popular they invited the convention of auditors and comptrollers and treasurers to attend a dinner there. The manager invited me personally.

I replied, "No, I cannot accept; the elections or not, depending on whether they approve of the organization. The American Jewish Committee and the B'nai B'rith, both definitely oppose Congress methods and logic and have not, as the writer says, joined hands with the Congress. As for the paid advertisement, I believe they are consistent with the other reprehensible acts of the Congress which has made that organization so liable to criticism.

you have a sign saying you do not wish any Jewish patronage."

He said, "But you are a different kind of a Jew."

I said, "There is no such thing as a 'different kind of Jew'." When we are eight days old we all cry during the same ceremony.

The Editor's Chair:

Received a pleasant letter from Phil Katz, whose American Jewish Outlook is one of the better Anglo-Jewish publications in the United States, in which Miss Sarah Zeserson's report on her trip through New England is challenged. Says Mr. Katz: "We may have kept our sun glasses on too long, but during a 2,000-mile New England tour last summer we did not encounter, even once, any experience similar to those Sarah Zeserson details in your current series." Since Miss Zeserson did not write the article for us, but for the magazine "Yankee" we cannot ask her to corroborate her story. Miss Zeserson's trip, if you read the article carefully, was not in the mountains, where most Jewish resorts are located, but along the New England seashore. It is entirely possible, despite the fact that Mr. Katz's tour was 2,000 miles long, that it was confined for the most part to other sections that that in which Miss Zeserson chanced to vacation.

I have been accused of being a non-Zionist. The accusation arises, I am sure, from this paper's ingrained criticism of The Zionist Organization of America and from Roman Slobodin's sharp articles on the present situation in Palestine. In each case my defense in one of "truth". To report that the Z. O. A. has a membership of 27,000 out of the 4,500,000 Jews of the United States is not to align oneself with the non-Zionists. Or to print that the economic situation in Palestine is critical is not to do a disservice to Zionism. It seems to me that the day and time when the height of wisdom was to hide and cover over the actual fact passed away with Middle Ages.

To tell the truth, last Fall I attempted to organize a Zionist district in Louisville. We were able to sign up about twenty members, but the plan fell through for lack of interest from the city at large, and probably poor management.

But this paper always has been on the side of the Zionist movement. In fact a Jewish paper or in fact a Jewish person who is anti-Zionistic today is a contradiction in terms. However this paper will continue to criticise when it believes criticism is indicated. You wouldn't call a republican an anti-American because he saw fit to criticise the Roosevelt administration?

Rabbi Goldman's Election Indicates Divorce From New York

EXACTLY what role the fact that Rabbi Solomon Goldman is a Chicago leader played in his election last week to the presidency of the Zionist District of America is difficult to determine.

Was there actually a revolt against the Eastern hegemony? Was Rabbi Isidore Goldstein's candidacy harmed by the fact of his New York residency?

This paper answers both questions in the affirmative. Of all the pre-election work for any candidate, most of the behind-the-scenes action was in behalf of Rabbi Goldstein. The New England Zionist District in its annual convention two weeks ago advocated Rabbi Goldstein's election in a unanimous resolution. Only the Chicago Zionist District pledged itself to Rabbi Goldman's election, and if the Chicago Jewish Chronicle's criticism of that district is any indication, this backing was more of a harm than a benefit to the fighting Chicago rabbi.

If then it is true that Rabbi Goldman was named as part of a definite movement to divorce leadership of American Jewry from the New York City captainship, what does this move portend? Is the fact that the Pittsburgh Peace was born in a Middle-Western city an indication of the same revolution?

This paper has fought for several years for a relief from the New York viewpoint on all questions pertaining to American Jewry. For too many years every national organization, excepting the B'nai B'rith, has located its office, and consequently its viewpoint and decisions in New York City. This in itself need not have been unalterably harmful, but any perusal of the chaos, the incompetency and the lack of accomplishment of American Jewish organizations for the past decade must take this fact into consideration. The one organization located in New York City which has prospered and grown has been the Hadassah, but this organization from the very first decentralized itself so that the overwhelming force of its actions did not emanate from the Atlantic Seaboard.

If then there is a revolt, does that mean that the revolt will be successful. That remains to be seen. The next few years will tell the story for the Zionist Organization of America. The next few years will determine if the B'nai B'rith's move to Washington was a wise one. The success or failure too of the Pittsburgh Peace will have a great bearing on the permanency of the divorce from New York.

Whatever else it means, Rabbi Goldman's election must be interpreted as a clear-cut victory for those of us who have fought against the New York suzerainty.

Comments On Current Topics

Isaac Goldberg Disagrees With Kashruth Views Of Orthodox Rabbi.—In a letter printed recently by a prominent Jewish weekly I find the following sentiment set down by a local rabbi: "The aversion which some Jews have acquired for Kashruth is typical of the feeling of shame and degradation which these creatures have in regard to everything that is Jewish." Elsewhere, the same man of the cloth refers to the "wise-acres" and "would-be scientists" who explain their attitude upon a "half-baked scientific basis."

Now, it happens that I have not the trace of a feeling of "shame and degradation" about everything that is Jewish. It happens also that I have little concern about the matter of kosher food. And I cannot take kindly to the implication that I, who feel this indifference, am "half-baked," while the rabbi who follows the traditional attitude is "full-baked." Nor do I like to see such important words as "science" bandied about as if cold, intellectual scrutiny were nothing, and ardent emotional acceptance were everything.

As a matter of fact, my diet, for a number of reasons, is chiefly kosher. First, I am sure, because I happen to be brought up on such a diet, and have become used to it. Second, because I have an aversion for sea-food, whether it is "gefilte fish" or lobster, allowed or forbidden by Mosaic dietary law. Third, because I have no spirit of adventure where food is concerned. I count that day lost, for example, on which I have not consumed a plain omelet. After years and years of omelets, with or without bacon, I still find them a delicacy. But I would think no more of imposing my diet upon others than I would allow them to impose their diet upon me, especially when the "half-bakedness" of the rationalization was on their part, not mine.

P. W. Wilson Attacks Persecution Of Jews In "The Presbyterian".—The Jew has been the trustee of certain values. In a world where eager and ambitious master minds have organized armies and navies, conquered empires, amassed wealth, here is a society in which with reasonable continuity the unit has been the home.

It was in Judaism that the meaning of marriage was worked out by trial and error until the perfect sacrament, as some describe it, was evolved. It was in Judaism that health became an expression of faith. It was in Judaism that universal slavery began to be liquidated, that social justice was asserted, and that the God of War was defied.

Persecution of the Jews is an unintelligent offense against the well being of society as a whole. Suppression of Jewry is not merely a blow inflicted upon a suffering community. It is a thrust at industry, at science, at art, at music, at all the amenities of life to which Jews are contributing their energy, initiative and genius.

Rabbi Edward L. Israel, Of Baltimore, Sees No Harm In Publication Of Kuhn Allegations.

There seem to be varying reactions to the outburst of American Nazi leader Fritz Kuhn on the subject of the Jews. Some people are glad that the thing has finally come to light and that these bits of slander which have been peddled around under cover in America are now out in the open. The contention is that it is easier to fight something vicious when it is out in the open.

On the other hand, there are those who say that the nation-wide publication of these lies, as given voice to by the American Nazi Kuhn, is going to have a bad effect. These people insist that no matter how outrageously false may be a certain story, it is bound to be believed by some people. They point to the manner in which Germany, an essentially intelligent and scientific people, has been utterly seduced by the vilest and most slanderous form of anti-Semitism and chauvinistic race theories the world has ever known.

I have enough confidence in the uniqueness of the American scene to feel that whereas bigotry and prejudice may prevail for a moment, there is something inherently truth-loving in America that ultimately dispels the more vicious aspects of prejudice. The American is essentially a man of fair play. It is difficult to imagine the American people perpetrating the sort of sadistic cruelties that are inflicted officially in Nazi Germany today, not only on Jews but on Protestants and Catholics, and on other groups.

Cyrus Adler Attacks Innuendo Of Royal Commission's Report On Loyalty Of Jews.—I had endeavored to study this Report objectively but I must admit that one statement alone, "In fact the Balfour Declaration was issued in 1917 in order to enlist the Jewish support for the Allies" caused me to doubt the accuracy of the premises upon which the Royal Commission proceeded. It may be presumed, and the records of the World War show it, that in every country, whether those that adhered to the Allied and Associated Powers or those that adhered to the Central Powers, the Jews of these respective countries were as loyal to their governments as any other portion of the population, and no bid or bribe was necessary to secure the loyalty of the Jews living in the countries of the Allied and Associated Powers. This point of view of the Commission is one which I think we have a right and a duty to resent.

Freedom of the Press

Congress Praised, Rabbis Hit.
To The Editor:

You wonder why Rabbi Max Cerrick's suggestion that local synagogue councils be organized finds Indiana and Kentucky without such bodies. Are these the only two states without such councils? I am sure that the majority are lacking in such organizations. Why? It is my opinion that the trouble and fault in the majority of cases lies not with the laymen, but with our spiritual leaders. Our spiritual academies have produced second lieutenants in bulk, and too few general.

The majority of our spiritual leaders in this country are not in the rabbinate for the purpose of administering to the religious life of our communities.

There are greater and more important organizations in this country and the world over which are more essential to the welfare of the Jewish people than merely local synagogue councils. One in particular is the American Jewish Congress. In the Congress are affiliated Zionist organization of America, the Mizrachi, the Jewish Federation of Labor, Hapoel Hamizrachi, the Union of Orthodox Congregations, Union of Orthodox Rabbis, the Histraduth Harbonim (American Yeshiva Rabbis), the Organization of Conservative Rabbis, and also the ranking rabbis in the Reform pulpit, namely, Stephen Wise and Abba Hillel Silver. I also wish to add the American Jewish Committee and the B'nai B'rith who joined hands with the American Jewish Congress in Pittsburgh last week.

What is our experience in Louisville in relation to this most important organization? Seventeen organizations were invited to take part in the local elections to the American Jewish Congress convention, but only half of them responded. Why? Because out of the seven rabbis we have here, only three, I am sorry to say, are big enough to raise themselves above their personal selfish motives.

In New York City the other day, the leading American newspaper, The New York Times, carried a full page ad urging every Jew to vote in the American Jewish Congress election for the defense of Jewish rights. This full-page ad was paid for by "non-Jews" who believe that the Jew is entitled to equal rights.

Recently while in Chicago, I had the privilege of attending a session of the American Jewish Congress and heard Col. Frank Knox and Gov. Earle of Pa., (who came special to this meeting) denounce persecution of the Jew, and called upon the Jews of America to unite through the Congress and fight openly Nazism and Fascism, not only as enemies of Israel, but as the greatest menace to civilization. In the evening at a banquet Mr. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior of the U. S., spoke and also called upon all the Jews to unite and fight openly for their rights. What have our local Jewish leaders done to follow the advice of our non-Jewish friends who are the most prominent men in America?

Four rabbis occupied their pulpits in Louisville last Saturday (three were out of the city), but only two spoke of the necessity to vote in the Jewish Congress election. The other two did not even mention a word about it.

Harry Simon.

Editor's Note: The above writer is a bit confused in background and logic. The Congress elections, as finally constituted were for Congress supporters only and since the Congress as a whole is a mooted question, Rabbis and any one else have a perfect right to advocate (Continued on Page 7)
